The FYDARY web platform with integrated technological and legal solutions enables the tokenization of any kind of assets – from real estates to intellectual property. Platform users have the possibility to issue tokens which represent fractional ownership of a certain real-world asset in a legally binding way. Thus, such tokens are referred to as asset tokens, which represent (fractional) ownership of the certain real-world asset, created and based on blockchain technology.

With FYDARY users have a straightforward possibility to create investment and economic products, backed by professional assistance and consultation through meticulously selected business service partners and qualified counsels. The FYDARY platform thus aims to connect users and investors and offer logistical, technological and legal assistance for tokenization of various asset types in an accessible way, set their governance type and economic model and market them to potential investors, all that in a legally binding way compliant with a valid EU legislation. Assets are intended to be tokenized in the form of asset pools, offering the economic basis for the relevant asset tokens. Future investments may be tokenized in this manner as well.

The aim of the FYDARY platform is to solve business related problems, which are broadly present in the financial sector (e.g. investment entry barriers, illiquidity, inability to manage a large amount of small investors).

On a basis of contemporary technological, design and security standards and best practices, the FYDARY platform creates new investment opportunities, expanding their horizon by overcoming current geographical, legal and market limitations. The safety of the operation is additionally supported by the fiduciary legal model, which adds another layer of security for the purposes of investing or generating capital.

Diversification and availability of investments are important aspects in the sense of profitability and security of such investments. Thus, the main focus of the FYDARY platform is the safe and transparent governance and management of assets, backed by legal and technical solutions, which provide users the safety of ownership, along with the profitability of such assets, based on best practices of asset management and trading.
